
JESSICA FRAGOSO

When you meet Jessica, you will always be greeted with a big warm smile. An Arizona native, she relocated to California where she has established her roots. A proud mother of 3 wonderful children, with tremendous and sincere care for her community, are some of the motivational drivers that led her to pursue the real estate industry.

She first became a licensed realtor six years ago. That journey, the love for her profession and a steady career progression opened the doors of TIGAR where she is now a proud and devoted member of our association. Serving on the Education Committee, holding a title as YPN (Young Professional Network) Co-Chair and being an active participant in our leadership program, weekly board meetings, and toastmaster classes are some of the vital roles in her day to day involvement towards supporting and making our association great.

Jessica champions inclusiveness, unity, and teamwork. Today she stands committed with a genuine desire to be part of a board of directors where the voice of agents will be well represented. A board that will seek to uncover and recognize sectors of untapped opportunities, with potential business growth for all.

Our current TIGAR board directors recognize the importance of exceptional team leadership and believe as she does, that each and every organization needs a strong and successful board to effectively realize its fullest potential. Through your support, Jessica is seeking to become a director of our association to be an advocate, an ambassador, an active resource to her fellow realtors, clients, and our communities.

She would like to leave you with a final note, a personal mantra that represents unity, community, and a sense of togetherness.

I can do things you cannot; you can do things I cannot; Together we can do great things.
